Congratulations to Dr. Hewitt and Dr. Dolezel on receiving an external grant from the Texas Society of Allied Health Professions to conduct a study that will explore whether moral intensity and moral disengagement influence healthcare professionals' ethical decision making in a healthcare setting. Drs. Hewitt and Dolezel will survey healthcare professionals through Amazon Mechanical Turks. The survey includes several scenarios that describe ethical dilemmas faced when accessing Protected Health Information electronically, including logging in for another individual and using a personal device when accessing health records.
